Thursday, May 19, 2011
Michigan State Capitol Building

Because you care about Michigan infants and young children, gather with others in the early childhood community and speak to those decision makers who directly impact Michigan infants and young children.

This year, a majority of legislators are new and have never heard the tremendous benefits early childhood programs and services bring to our state. Be a voice for children, stand together to ensure every child in Michigan arrives at the kindergarten door safe, healthy and ready for school success! Be a part of this growing community already in the thousands and do it while enjoying a family friendly day, with games, lunch, and more, free of charge.

Be there Thursday, May 19, for Star Power 2011.

Star Power is generously supported by private funders including the W.K. Kellogg Foundation and the national Birth to Five Alliance.
